Dear Chairman Art Torres,

We were greatly disappointed that you could not attend our Affirmative Action Bake Sale last Wednesday at U.C. Berkeley.

As you know, we parodied the race based system of Affirmative Action by selling chocolate chip cookies at varying prices depending on the race of the buyer. Apparently, you did not find humor in the event, and instead of arguing the substance of the issue, you sent out an angry press release that resorted to name calling and false accusations.

You clearly have a chip on your shoulder, and to alleviate your grievances, we are humbly sending you a dozen of our finest chocolate chip cookies courtesy of the California College Republicans.

Please pass along a cookie to Lt. Governor Cruz Bustamante, who used the n-word in a speech during Black History Month in 2001.

And be sure to give a cookie to former Klansman and Democratic Senator Robert Byrd. We hear he's a natural fit in his new role as a Confederate General in the movie "Gods and Generals."

And don't forget to save a cookie for Democratic Presidential Candidate Al Sharpton, who in 1994 was quoted as saying "White folks was in the cave when we built empires. We taught philosophy and astrology and mathematics before Socrates and them Greek homos ever got around to it." A comment that is not just racist, but also homophobic.

We hope you enjoy your complimentary cookies – that is, if there are any left after you share them with your racially sensitive cohorts.

Very Truly Yours,

Michael Davidson, Secretary
California College Republicans
